Welcome to DOCTORS.ORG!

It's time to begin to hold expanding medical costs in check, and hospitals accountable. We want to do our part. Here we present the Doctors.org Hospital Billing Practices Reports. We began with almost 7 million recent Medicare patient visit records to hospitals in 2011 -- hospital-specific charges for the more than 3,000 U.S. hospitals that receive Medicare Inpatient Prospective Payment System (IPPS) payments for the top 100 most frequently billed discharges. It compares what hospitals 'retail' prices with the actual Medicare audits (Medicare and co-payments due). As you can see, there are wide differences in hospital billing practices, even in the same small communities.

The ratio of the two numbers is deemed the Overcharge Factor here. This basic information was released by the U.S. Government on March 7, 2013. Hospitals were apparently not told of the release of the data in advance.
